We have been going to the Rosemont meetings to learn about their project since the beginning, I think. We have found that everything they do is very well thought out and executed. They have been so patient during the process of getting their project approved, that has been so long and drawn out. We would like to encourage all of you to do your best to put it on the fast track. There are so many people in the area waiting for jobs. It will certainly help the economy of Tucson and the surrounding area. Thank you. Edith J. Ford and William Richardson
